Honors Day Ceremonies To Recognize Students

Students who have made high scholastic records, outstanding contributions to campus life, and those who excel in their particular department, are to be given recognition at the annual Honors Day ceremonies Tuesday, at 2 p.m. in the Amphitheater.

A processional of seniors and faculty dressed in academic robes, will begin at 1:45 p.m. Pres. Ralph W. McDonald will preside at the program and will present most of the awards.

Classes Excused

Morning and 12 o'clock classes will be held as usual. However, classes from 1 p.m. on will be excused. Seniors may pick up their gowns today and Monday at the bookstore by paying a deposit of five dollars. Partial refund will be given on June 4 immediately after commencement exercises when the gowns are returned to the bookstore.

All seniors, dressed in gowns, will gather in the Main Auditorium on Tuesday at 1:45 p.m. to start the processional.

Main Awards Given

Some of the main awards to be presented Tuesday will be the revealing of senior Sic-Sic members, tapping of new members of Omicron Delta Kappa and Cap and Gown, presentation of the President's Awards, the Alice Prout Memorial Award, and the Ann Batchelder Memorial Award.

Final event of the day will be presentation of awards to Bowling Green ROTC and Air Force ROTC men at a special Awards and Medals ceremony in the stadium at 4 p.m.

Senate Approves Four Appointments

Student Senate, at its final formal meeting of the year, moved to accept the recommendations of the reviewing committee for reappointment to six University committees.

The approved reappointments to the various committees are: Bennett Litherland, High School Scholarship; Donna Poland, Library; Winifred Hartzell, Music Activities; Joyce Ridenour, Betsy Sandlin, and Jack Schierloh, Social; Robert Bickel and Barbara Lee Dowds, Student Appointment; Lois Diehl and Brad Greenberg, Student Publications.

Senate also voted to accept nine other reappointments to University committees presented at last week's meeting.

In one of the important actions taken at the meeting, the senators defeated a motion proposed by Richard Daley. The move would have requested next year's Senate to bring up discussion on the issue reducing the point average requirement for membership on a University committee from the present 2.8 to 2.2.

A report was presented to Senate concerning the possible functions of the Spirit Committee. Some of the ideas are the awarding of trophies to outstanding athletes, a pre-dawn pep-rally for the big football game of the season, producing a new Alma Mater for the University, a pep band, a send-off and welcome for the team at important events, an organized cheering section, election rallies, and better understanding and communication between students and faculty through articles in the B-G News, a student-faculty play, and promotion of a student day, when the students would manage the University as far as possible.

The Spirit Committee, which is a direct Senate committee, consists of the president of each of the four classes, two other nominees from each class, the head of the cheerleaders, and a Senate member.

Buford To Return

Joseph C. Buford, assistant professor of geography, will return to Bowling Green next fall to resume teaching.

Professor Buford has been on a two-year leave of absence while working for his doctorate at the University of California.

Cast Good In 'Difficult' Play Now At Gate

BY CAROL SUTLIFF

"I Have Been Here Before," on the Gate Theatre stage tonight and Saturday, is a difficult play, as the author, J. B. Priestly, has admitted. It demands the constant attention of the audience to follow the wordy dialogue which presents the theory that lives move in endless circles, repeating the same circumstances. Through the play's central characters, Walter Farrant, Priestley expounds the idea that this circle can be changed by will and courage, but only if the persons involved recognize the forces involved, thus moving into a higher spiral.

The cast of six manage to do a good job of bringing the emotion to a peak at several points, despite the heavy, sometimes bogging parts of the play itself.

Rucker Flexible

Gene Rucker, as Walter Ormund, the successful business man whose wife plans to leave him for Farrant, does much to help build this philosophic action to a climax. He shows great flexibility of emotion in voice and actions.

The mood of the play, that odd sensation of having been through a situation in the same place before, is well set with the entrance of Anne Potoky as Janet Ormund. She gives a convincing performance as the wife who feels unseen forces pushing her into love and escape with the young school-teacher, played by Con Nowakowski.

Shows Promise

In his first major role, Nowakowski lacked the fully developed character of the other actors, but he shows promise and should do well in coming plays.

He has a pleasing stage presence, but suffers in contrast to Rucker in some of the dramatic high points of the play.

Gary Davis, as Dr. Goetler, who sees the situation and tries to prevent it, handles the German accent well, and is excellent in his efforts to aid the three caught in the spiral.

News Staff To Meet Monday Evening

All students interested in working for the B-G News next year are asked to attend an organizational meeting Monday, May 24, at 8:30 p.m. in the Journalism Dept.

Applications for the business and editorial staffs will be filled out at the meeting. Top staff positions require journalism experience, but any student may become a staff writer.

Staff writers are particularly needed for sports and society. Issue editor, assistant issue editor, sports and society positions are open.

Advertising manager and assistants, circulation manager and assistants are needed for the business staff.

To Present Miss BG At U-A Prom Tonight

Richard Willson, William Meyer, and Eugene Bernath look over some of Duke Ellington's records in preparation for the U-A Prom this weekend.

Green To Escort Queen At Dance

Miss BG will be presented to the campus tonight at the 1954 University-Anniversary Prom featuring Duke Ellington and his 16-piece orchestra. The queen will be escorted by Chuck Green, Senate president, and will be crowned by the Duke himself.

Two attendants will also be president, escorted by Richard Mahoney and David Freedheim. All three girls will receive bouquets, and the queen will wear a crown of flowers.

Candidates for Miss BG and her attendants are Anne Hopkins, Kohl Hall; Diane Stoffer, Shatzel Hall; Marilyn Sutherland, Williams Hall; Jean Barany, Alpha Chi Omega; June Brackney, Alpha Delta Pi; Judy Borman, Alpha Gamma Delta; Lynn Paulhus, Alpha Phi; Jane Nicholson, Alpha Xi Delta; Deloris Lehman, Chi Omega; Andrea Robbins, Delta Gamma; Martha Ruck, Delta Zeta; Ellyn Bowen, Gamma Phi Beta; Shirley Davis, Kappa Delta; Virginia Pierce, Phi Mu.

Winners have been chosen by Ellington from pictures submitted by the committee in charge. Presentation ceremonies will be during intermission at approximately 10:30 p.m. A special platform has been erected next to the bandstand from which the queen and her court will reign.

The dance committee announced that tickets will be sold at the door. The committee also announced that the balcony will be locked during the dance.

Symphonic Band Presents Concert Wednesday Evening

Final twilight concert of the season was presented by the University Symphonic Band Wednesday evening. The band, directed by Roy J. Weger, assistant professor of music, opened the program with the "Andante" and "March," from the "Pathetique Symphony," by Tchaikovsky.

Soloists included Richard Ecker, instructor in music, who performed a bassoon solo with band accompaniment; Anthony Roberts and Charles Lutz, trumpet and drum soloists in "Trumpet and Drum," by Philip Long; and Dr. Harry S. Spangler, associate professor of music, who soloed with percussion in "Calfskin Callisthenics," arranged by David Bennett.

Other numbers on the program included "RAF March," by Wal-ford Davies; "La Camparsita," by Rodriguez; "Lucy Long," by Richard Godfrey; "El Captain March" and "Stars and Stripes Forever," by John Philip Sousa.

Sam Martin Elected Student Court Head

Sam Martin, a junior in business administration, was elected chief justice of the Student Court Thursday, May 13, by this year's court members. Voting in the election were justices Shirley Chance, Susan Digby, Mona Middleton, Sam Martin, and present chief justice Jerry Helwig.

Student Senate President Charles Green recommended to Senate Monday night that Mary Shoemaker, Robert Smith, and Brad Greenberg, all sophomores, be appointed to next year's court. Senate approve these appointments.

Doris Cvetec and Phyllis Jean Hutchinson were approved as clerk of court and assistant clerk, respectively, by Senate upon recommendation of the Senate reviewing committee. Miss Digby is automatically reappointed for another term.

Martin assumed the duties of chief justice at yesterday's court session. The new court will not take office until the fall semester.

Joe Zingale was fined $5 for parking in an assigned area at last week's meeting. It was his third offense. Glee Pitney was assessed $1 for parking in a restricted area.

The entire court traveled to Toledo Tuesday and visited the traffic and criminal courts to view the court procedure. Helwig said the procedure of Student Court is patterned quite closely after that used in the traffic court.

Palermo To Give Voice Recital Here

Mary Jane Palermo, junior, will present a voice recital composed of operatic arias and light Italian, French, and Spanish selections Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Practical Arts auditorium.

She will be accompanied by Edward Stearns. Baritone Marion Buckles will assist her in several duets.

Miss Palermo has appeared in the summer opera program at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. She recently received a scholarship to an opera workshop in Wheeling, W. Va.

Some of her selections are "La Danza" by Rossini; "Sempere Libera" from "La Traviata"; "Ah, Fors' Lue" also from "La Traviata"; and "Si, Mi Chiamano Mimi" from "La Boheme." Miss Palermo will repeat her performance of "Si, Mi Chiamano Mimi" at the June commencement.

Journalists Honored At Banquet

Ten senior members of University publications were presented awards of achievement for four years service at the Fourteenth Annual Publications banquet at the Commons Tuesday evening.

Dean of Students Arch B. Conklin, senior member of the publications committee, gave the awards to Budde Blore, Donald Hammerstrom, Charles Hornaday, Carol Sutliff, Lois Nelson, Gretchen Van Brunt, Marilyn Penkoff, Erwin Falkenheim, Robert Bone, and Pete Ray.

John Tite was awarded a cup as the outstanding freshman in journalism. It was presented by Jesse J. Currier, chairman of the journalism department.

H. Glendon Steele, member of the publications committee, gave achievement awards to Manley Anderson, Donald Brenner, Dallas Brim, Lois Diehl, Donald Getter, James Gordon, Brad Greenberg, Patricia Guthman, Elaine Haak, Carolyn Hill, Mary Humphries, Charles Leidy, Frances McLean, Harold Miller, Jean Murphy, Gerald Murray, Joan Paisley, Ronald Penkoff, Stanley Richmond, Patricia Smith, Carol Tanner, James Turner, and Patricia Vietmeier.

For the second year, Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was awarded the trophy for the outstanding campus publication. Delta Sigma, men's journalism honorary, sponsors the contest.

John Tite receives the gold cup for the outstanding freshman in journalism from J. J. Currier, journalism dept. head, at the Annual Publications Banquet last Tuesday evening.

Rumors—Fact Or Fiction?

Rumors around campus have proved to be wrong more often than right, and a recent rumor has substantiated this fact once again. Last fall, at the pre-dawn pep rally, Don Packard as president of Boosters Club presented to Dr. McDonald and the University a plaque on which names of outstanding players in each of the nine sports were engraved. At Honors Day, this year's winners of this award will be announced, but as usual a few of these names have leaked out and this has caused the misunderstanding to come about. Rumor says that no man can win the award two years in succession regardless of his outstanding role. This is false. In fact, one winner to be announced is a repeater from last year.

Basis for the honor may clarify the situation. The various coaches recommended three men whom they consider to be outstanding. Boosters Club then votes on these three from the standpoint of outstanding character, ability, inspiration to the team, general spirit, and desire to win. True, records might be broken and publicity gained in great amounts by some, but others serve in deeper and more unacknowledged ways.

A Survey

A recently released bulletin from the National Science Foundation contains statistics on the relation of the number of graduate and undergraduates who are employed in fields closely related to their scholastic fields of specialization.

Education was the most popular major of the 384,352 students receiving bachelor's degrees in June 1951, with 18 percent graduating with education degrees. Of the 65,132 master's degrees awarded that year, 40 percent were in education. Psychology majors had the lowest percentage, in the bachelor's degree field.

A year later these same graduates were queried concerning fields of employment. Twenty percent of the males who had bachelor's degrees were in the service. Fourteen percent of both men and women bachelor's degrees had gone on for more schooling, and 10 percent of those with master's degrees were in school. These figures include twice as many men as women. Twelve percent of the women with bachelor's degrees were now housewives.

Only about two percent of the graduates at the time of the survey were employed in jobs classified as "non-professional." Among the "professionally employed" a high proportion of those who had majored in engineering, health fields or business and commerce were employed in jobs in the same area of specialization. More graduates at the master's degree level than at the bachelor's degree level held jobs in the same area of specialization as their scholastic major.

These results are of interest to graduating students because these graduates will probably follow similar lines in their employment. It is of importance to advisers and counselors in aiding undergraduates to select fields of study. The nation's educators are interested in these results because they indicate the present and coming supply of scientific, specialized, and educational manpower for the nation.

56 Students Receive Ratings In Business Entrance Tests

Students Guess Helwig And Green As Senior SICs

Who are the two Senior members of SicSic? Tuesday afternoon the B-G News made a spot survey with this question in mind. Twenty-one persons were interviewed and asked to make a guess on the two secret members.

Jerry Helwig led the poll with 18 persons selecting him as one of the members. The next choice was Charles Green with nine. Rounding out the selections were William Bittner and Ralph McKinney with four each, David Freedheim with three and William Bradley with two. David Burnap and Herbert Collier finished out the guessing with one apiece.

Which of these students guessed right? No one will know until Honors Day when the names of the senior members are revealed to the student body.

Official Announcements

Seniors will form in academic regalia at 1:45 p.m. on Tuesday, May 25 in the Main Auditorium for the professional Honors Day Convocation. Caps and gowns will be available at the University Book Store, Friday, May 21 and Monday, May 24. The deposit on the cap and gown is to be paid at that time.

Newspapers which were judged in the Delta Sigma fraternity and sorority publications contest may be picked up with the judges grading sheets in the Journalism Department office, 315 Ad.

Fifty-six students received proficiency scores in the National Business Entrance Tests. These tests were sponsored by the National Office Management Association, according to Elfreda M. Rusher, instructor in business education. The tests were held here April 28 and 29.

Receive Certificates

Students receiving a certain score in these tests receive a certificate of proficiency. One of the benefits derived from the certificate is that the employer, when interviewing applicants for a job can be reasonably certain that an applicant with a proficiency certificate is qualified in the technical skill specified upon the certificate. Tests here were given in typewriting and stenography.

Those students receiving certificates in typewriting were Phyllis J. Hutchinson, who received the highest score, Patricia Andrews, Sandra Beach, Joy Beam, Beverly Bibler, Joyce Blanc, Merrill Burford, Marilyn Chamberlin, Dorothy Comings, Mary Lou Connolly, Barbara Cooke, Mary DuBois, Janice Eberly, Loretta Hall, Nan Hall, Sue Hartman, Donna Haydock, Marguerite Hoops, Shirley Jacobs, Barbara Jones, Arleen Kuhlman.

Others Listed

Sandra Levy, Marlene Martin, Marcia Mathias, Margaret McCutcheon, Jane Moran, Marilyn Nicholas, Elizabeth Pace, Carol Payne, Margaret Payne, Peggy Peabody, Patti Rader, Marilyn Sawyer, Judith Schumacher, Suzette Seiling, Sandra Sewell, Patricia Sheffer, and Marcene Wiseley.

Russell Hall received the highest score in the stenography test. Others who received certificates are Karlene Anshutz, Jean Barany, Joan Braski, Beverly Brown, Suzanne Couchie, Beverly Gorrill, Marian Guy, Carol Herge, Norma Jeanne Hinkle, Diane Johnson, Janice McNary, Jean Metz, Jane Nicholson, Patti Rader, Judith Schumacher, Kay Snyder, and Phyllis Vredenburg.

Dr. Kleckner To Study In England

Dr. Donald C. Kleckner, assistant professor of speech, is one of the 80 students selected from approximately 20 nations chosen to study this summer at Avon-On-Stratford, England, at the Shakespeare Institute, a branch of the University of Birmingham.

The course consists of lectures and seminars conducted by leading Shakespearean scholars in England.

"Doing this post-doctoral work is an opportunity to study and observe the productions of the internationally famous Stratford Players, who will present a different Shakespearean play each week," said Dr. Kleckner.

He will sail on the Britannica June 16 and return on the Queen Mary Aug. 19.

Harold Bavis Awarded Year's Study At OSU

Harold L. Davis, senior physics major, has been granted a one-year graduate assistantship at Ohio State University beginning next fall.

Davis will probably work in the University laboratory, supervising freshman and sophomore laboratory courses. Along with his teaching duties, Davis intends to work toward his master's degree.

It Says Here

by CHUCK HORNADAY

Honors Day, as everyone knows, will be held Tuesday, and with it will go honors and awards of all types to students for their work this year at Bowling Green.

The day will be a preview of the commencement trek on June 4 for seniors. For a few it will mean the recognition of well earned honors and accomplishments. Then again, there are those who will be a preview of the commencement trek on June 4 for seniors.

Chuck Hornaday welcomes the special day because it marks the end of another semester of classes.

All in all, the day carries a wealth of significance, and effects everybody on campus in one way or another.

Only one more issue of the News is scheduled for this semester. It will come out on Tuesday, May 25. Since this is the last time "It Says Here" will be written I am taking this opportunity to sing my "Swan Song."

Putting out a school newspaper isn't the easiest thing to do, especially when there are classes to go to, books to read, exams to take, and social events to attend. It doesn't take long to discover that no matter what type of newspaper is put out, everybody can't be satisfied. One group insists that too much is put in, another that too much is left out. Certain groups expect all the praise possible when they do something good, but when they do the opposite, don't expect one word to be printed. Some department heads swear that they are being discriminated against, even after they have practically thrown a reporter out the window when he asked for a story.

But on the whole I have found that the people I have come in contact with while working for the paper, have been very congenial. Most news sources did their best to provide us with the necessary information to get the news across to the reader in the best possible manner. Even though adverse criticism is unavoidable, putting out a college newspaper has been one of the most satisfying experiences I have ever been connected with.

During this past year a woman headed the B-G News for the first time in nine years. Carol Sutliff was without a doubt the most efficient and likeable editor I have worked with during my short four years at this school. It was Carol's work which enabled this paper to come closer to satisfying more people than any time since I have been a member of the staff. I leave with the feeling that this has been a very successful year and that it will take a mighty talented person to produce a better paper than she has these past two semesters.

As I put the final—30—mark to my last effort as a college journalist I would like to sincerely thank my readers (rumored to be three, all of them my roommates) for putting up with me this long. Lastly I would like to thank all the profs and students who have made these past four years the finest ones.

Alum Group Begins Homecoming Plans, To Add Committee

Alumni Committee discussed plans for the 1954 Homecoming at a special meeting Wednesday, May 12, said Forrest Creason, committee chairman and professor of physical education.

The committee decided to become the ways and means group for the 1954 Homecoming. In addition, representatives from Student Senate, Men's Independent Society, Women's Recreation Association, and Alpha Phi Omega and Omega Phi Alpha, the service groups on campus, will serve on the committee.

Professor Creason said the tentative date for Homecoming is set for Oct. 16.

The June issue of the alumni magazine will be out the middle of June, Miss Mary Jane Gustin, editor, announced. Featured in the issue will be an article about progress at the University, written by Dr. Paul Leedy, librarian.

Sixty AS Cadets To Attend Camp

Fifty-five AS III cadets and five AS IV cadets will attend the annual AFROTC summer camp beginning June 21, and lasting four weeks.

Locations for the camps were announced as Griffith Air Force Base, N. Y.; McDill Air Force Base, Fla.; Moody Air Force Base, Ga.; Stewart Air Force Base, Tenn.; Shepherd Air Force Base, Tex.; Westover Air Force Base, Mass., and Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

During the four-week period the cadets will spend nine hours on weapons and marksmanship; 20 hours in physical training; 58 hours on leadership, drill and command; eight hours on officer's orientation; 12 hours on organization and function of the Air Force Base; 58 hours on aircraft and aircraft indoctrination, which includes all phases of aerial operations and nine hours of flying per cadet.

Selected cadets will attend the Firepower Demonstration at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

Barrell Writes Chapter

Dr. Charles A. Barrell, chairman of the department of political science at the University, is one of the contributors to a book titled "An Introduction to American Government," which has just been published by Stackpole. His contribution is on democracy, and introduces the section of the book which deals with political processes.

Chi O, Alpha Chi Holds Omega Bowl

Alpha Chi Omega and Chi Omega sororities will hold their third annual Omega Bowl softball game 2:30 Sunday, on the field in back of the Women's Gym, announced Jody Daigneau, Alpha Chi Omega, and Barbara Jones, Chi Omega, co-chairmen of the Omega Bowl committee.

The winning team will receive an Omega shaped trophy, which was won in 1952 by the Alpha Chi's and in 1953 by the Omega's. Umpires for the game will be the house boys of the sororities, Fred Frisbie, Delta Upsilon, and Dave Burnap, Sigma Chi, and one member of the University baseball team.

A picnic will be held at the Alpha Chi Omega house after the game for the two teams, umpires, and coaches, Miss Daigneau added.

Sigma Nu Faces Theta Chi For Championship

Sigma Nu remained undefeated in softball Wednesday night as it defeated Delta Upsilon 6-1. Sigma Nu will meet Theta Chi Monday for the interfraternity championship. Theta Chi is also undefeated.

Jim Haman's brilliant pitching sparked the Sigma Nu victory along with the hitting of Jack Ferris and Dan Caruso.

In other games Wednesday Phi Kappa Psi won over Alpha Tau Omega 7-2, and Pi Kappa Alpha took the measure of Phi Kappa Tau 11-7.

Sigma Nu trounced Pi Kappa Monday 26-4 as Jim Haman turned in a great performance striking out 11 men, and belting two doubles and a single. Thomas Garmhausen and Ralph Jones knocked in two runs each to account for the Pikes tallies.

Theta Chi edged out Delta Upsilon Monday 5-3. The Theta Chi's got three runs in the first inning and went on to win, despite a fine pitching performance by DU Tom Dakich.

Phi Psi won over the Sig Eps Monday 14-1, as Ray Miskeel pitched fine ball for the winners striking out 11 men. Phi Psi's big inning came in the sixth when they scored 10 runs.

ATO scored five runs in the fifth inning to defeat Phi Kappa Tau 9-5. Lynn Babcock hit the only home run in the contest, for the winners, Monday.

Thursday night DU hit the win column for the fifth time as it won 16-6 over Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Pikes Win Outdoor Fraternity Track Championship

Taking high honors in the 220-yard dash, the 440-yard dash, and the 880-yard relay, Pi Kappa Alpha went on to win the Intrefraternity Outdoor Track Meet held May 13, with a total of 37 points to 28 for Theta Chi, and 27 for Sigma Nu.

Fred Williams, Pi Kappa Alpha, easily won the 440-yard dash in :59.5. Fleet-footed Richard Ryan 59.5. Fleet-footed Richard Rytel captured first place in the 220-yard dash, in :24.3, and second place in the mile run. Good teamwork payed off for the Pikes as Kehr, Dewalt, Jones and Barr won the 880-yard relay. Mark Barnhill, Phi Tau, and Lyle Aubie, Pi Kappa Alpha, tied for first place in the high jump.

The big guns for Theta Chi were Sam McCoy, Keith Fowler, and Fred Koch. McCoy took first in the 100-yard dash in :10.75. Koch, Theta Chi, took first place in the shot put with a toss of 38 feet 9 1/4 inches. Fowler came in second with a 32 foot 10 inch throw for Theta Chi.

With each school limited to four men Coach Don Cunningham will be faced with the problem of choosing a fourth man to go along with his big three Jim Dysinger, Dave Slough, and Dick Rodney. The fourth man will be either Paul Fisher, Harold Yawberg, or Virgil English.

The Falcons toughest competition will come from Ohio U. and Kent State, according to Coach Cunningham. Ohio U. finished second in the Ohio Intercollegiate meet held at Columbus last Monday. Kent State finished third in the same meet edging out Bowling Green by one stroke.

Strong individual competition is expected to come from John Ailes, Kent State; Dick Smail, Ohio U.; and Dave Moore, Ohio U.

Jim Dysinger will be attempting to better his second place finish for individual honors last year in the MAC meet at Western Michigan.

Dave Slough will be playing in his last meet for Bowling Green. Slough has been a four-year man.

The Falcons ended the regular season with a nine win, three loss record.

Coach Harold Anderson has called an important meeting of all men who expect to be candidates for the varsity basketball team next fall, in 103 Men's Gym at 4 o'clock, Monday, May 24.

take Theta Chi, came in second in the 880-yard relay with the team of Cross, Hadley, Atkinson, and Friar. Dan Caruso, Sigma Nu, leaped 17 feet 9 inches for first place in the broad jump, edging out Sam McCoy's jump of 17 feet 8 1/4 inches for Theta Chi.

Phi Kappa Tau occupied fourth place with a total of 16 points. Jerry Reed took second place, and Bill Saul third in the 440-yard dash for Phi Tau.

Diamondmen Travel To Marshall Today

Coach Warren E. Steller's baseball team will be fighting to hold on to second place in the Mid American Conference when it tangles with the Big Green of Marshall College this weekend.

The teams are scheduled for two games, one this afternoon and one Saturday.

After getting off to a good start by winning four out of the first five games the Big Green has gone into a bad slump and lost seven of its last nine starts including five MAC losses.

Marshall and Bowling Green have played three common opponents, Toledo U., Kent State, and Western Reserve. Marshall lost twice to Kent State 6-0 and 6-2, while the Falcons split with Kent State winning the first game 5-4 and losing the second 2-1. Marshall lost to Toledo in a single game 9-3, while Bowling Green dumped the Rockets twice 13-5 and 6-0. Against Western Reserve, Marshall won its only league game thus far 5-1, but lost the second game 8-4. The Falcons also split with Western Reserve winning 9-6 and losing 5-4.

Walt Walowac, who was hitting .318 at shortstop was made ineligible last week. Comparatively weak-hitting Earl Skaggs will move over from third to short to team up with Jim Swierczek at second. Pitcher Al (Rookie) Brown, impressive in a pinch hit role, will be given a chance at third base and may be a fixture.

Centerfielder Ed Walowac, catcher Carl Nutter, rightfielder Phil Milano, and first baseman Milan Zban are all .300 hitters.

Marshall thus far in the season has shown to be a good hitting, poor fielding team. Errors were especially instrumental in the loss to Toledo.

Falcon Tennis Six Travel To Miami For MAC Contest

The Falcon Tennis team went down to its tenth straight defeat Monday, at the hands of the Titans of Detroit University here at the University courts, to complete a very unsuccessful season.

Manny Koginos as usual was the only bright spot in the Falcon defeat as he won his seventh straight match of the season. Koginos who lost his first three matches of the season went undefeated for the last portion of the schedule.

The team travels to Oxford for the Mid-American Conference matches on the 20 to 23.

Physical Ed Club To Present Awards

Members of the Women's Physical Education Majors and Minors Club will have a tea and presentation of awards following Honors Day ceremonies, Tuesday, May 25, in the women's lounge in the Women's Bldg., according to Barbara Jisa, newly-elected president of the club.

The affair will be informal. Roses are the usual award given to the outstanding girls.

Track Squad Hampered By Injuries, MAC Meet Today

By PETE RAY

I just can't understand it. We were going along so well, and all of a sudden—bang!, the bottom fell out. I can't remember when we've had so many injuries." That was track coach Dave Matthews moaning—and from a look at his injury-riddled squad, he has good reason.

Practically every key man expected to run the distance events is either slowed to a fraction of his former speed or unable to run at all. Ray Bertelsen pulled a tendon in his foot; Jerry Sullivan was injured in an auto wreck; Waldon Keith has a pulled leg muscle; Dean Marr is unable to run.

Added to that list is high-jumper Dave Galapoo's sore heel. To say the team is in bad shape physically is putting it mildly, and to make matters worse, starting today and continuing through tomorrow at Miami University is the eighth annual Mid-American Conference track and field meet.

"We'll be in there battling, though," Coach Matthews added. "With some luck we could finish as high as third, but fourth or fifth place is more likely."

Miami will again be the cream of the conference crop in the meet, probably followed by Western Michigan, Western Reserve, and Bowling Green. The Redskins, MAC track and field champs for the past seven years, dumped Western Michigan rudely a couple of weeks ago, 77 1/2 to 49 1/2.

The Michigan school retaliated by smashing Bowling Green and Cincinnati, 106-38-13, in a triangular meet last week. The Falcons got some consolation by taking second place.

BG owns a win over Western Reserve, 68-59, in a dual meet this season, but with all the injuries on the Falcon team, that score might well reverse itself today and tomorrow.

Coach Matthews doesn't expect to enter the 880-yard run, the mile run or the two-mile run, unless sprinter John Luccio wants to take a crack at the mile.

Other than the distance events, Bowling Green should give a pretty good account of itself. Max Chapman will be ready for the high and low hurdles. Hal Robinson and Dan Springer, both of whom can run one hundred yards in around 10 seconds, will compete in the dashes.

Bill Bradshaw and Steve Mahoney can both clear the bar at 12.6 feet in the pole vault. Bradshaw and Vern Stroud will be trying for a win in the high jump. Herb Morehead and Robinson should place in the broad jump.

Clarence Yackey and Jim Ladd, a couple of local athletes best known here for their basketball and football talents respectively, will throw the discus and put the shot. Robinson, Springer and Morehead are possible starters in the 880-yard relay event.

Bowling Green State University is fully accredited by seven associations of accreditation.

Ships, Comedy To Highlight Movies

"The World in His Arms," in color with Gregory Peck and Ann Blyth, will be this week's Friday night campus movie presentation.

Based on the Rex Beach novel, it depicts a thrilling race between two sailing schooners to the Pribilof Islands in Russian territory. After the race, Peck, as Jonathan Clark, falls into the hands of the Russians and almost loses both his life and the girl he loves.

Saturday night, "Passport to Pimlico," starring Margaret Rutherford and Stanley Holloway, will be shown.

Using a unique comedy idea, the story tells what happens to a tiny section of London when it suddenly finds it is legitimately a section of ancient Burgundy, and not a part of present-day England at all.

"Passport to Pimlico" is a British film.

surer; Eve Williams, social chairman; Mary Pollock, publicity chairman; and Susan Mignerey, historian-recorder.

Field Trip Held

Beta Beta Beta, national recognition society for biology students, held its latest field trip at Base Lake, a biological station for the University of Michigan.

The trip was made under the guidance of Miss Eloise Whitner. Dr. Eugene Dickerman, and Dr. Carl Hallberg. The group arrived at the camp Friday evening and returned to Bowling Green Sunday afternoon. Tents provided living quarters during the period.

Dr. Marcus Hanna, associate professor of chemistry, demonstrated trapping and banding birds Sunday morning.

Lakofsky To Speak

Charles J. Lakofsky, assistant professor of art, will speak at Friday Forum 6:30 tonight in 10 Fine Arts Bldg.

Mr. Lakofsky, who has given some of his work to the Cleveland Museum of Art, will give a demonstration on ceramics and the art of pottery making.
